GOD OF DIMENSIONS // BOOK DESIGN

We helped Cornelius Oludeyi design and self-publish his book God of Dimensions. We delivered a book cover design after extensive research of the christian genre. We also designed his website, provided marketing advisory, created images for publicity and all the technical help required to publish on amazon.

Testimonial.

GOD OF DIMENSIONS // AUTHOR

Cornelius
Oludeyi

I was impressed by how quickly Brandives understood what I was looking for and they were great at communicating their thoughts and progress in a timely manner.

They went above and beyond to create a unique brand for me in the process. The quality of service and attention to details are outstanding.

I also appreciate how they presented me with options every step of the way; this helped us to work collaboratively and come up with creative ideas together. They are guaranteed to give you the best customer experience.

I highly recommend him. I look forward to working with him and his company.

NATIV FOODS // FOUNDER

Folu
Juwape

I've worked with Brandives for a while now and they came highly recommended by a friend of mine.

Brandives were efficient, detail oriented and extremely competent. Since the very first day we discussed about a project on my business branding until the point of execution, they were very professional and also delivered in terms of the quality on the job done.

In summary, I highly recommend Brandives for any graphic, brand design for personal or business purposes.

GOD OF DIMENSIONS // WEBSITE DESIGN

We helped Cornelius build a new website that promotes his new book. We created an email sales funnel and helped him build his email list. Sample copies of the book were made available on the website. We delivered a mobile first website based on the browsing preference of his target audience.
